

FYI Transition

A Guide to: fyitransition-students.org

OVERVIEW

This web site consists of a series of pages, each with a different focus.

Planning; How to plan your future.

Topics: Important areas to explore and learn.

Courses: Online training for transition.

Games: Play and learn activities.

Practice: Activities to download.

Help: Where to find more information.

REGISTRATION

It's a good idea to register for the site. Registration creates an account for you. You don't need to register to use the site, except to take the courses, which require an account to keep track of your progress.

To register, click on the registration link at the top of the home page, as shown above.

To complete the registration, fill out the form that comes up and submit.

NAVIGATION

To move around the web site, click on any of the areas to explore. Do this by selecting a topic link. The home page has the topic links near the top of the page.

The main pages also have a link menu on the side. If you hover your cursor over a side menu link, it will expand to tell you what the link is.

Next, we will show what happens when each link is clicked.

USING THE CONTENT

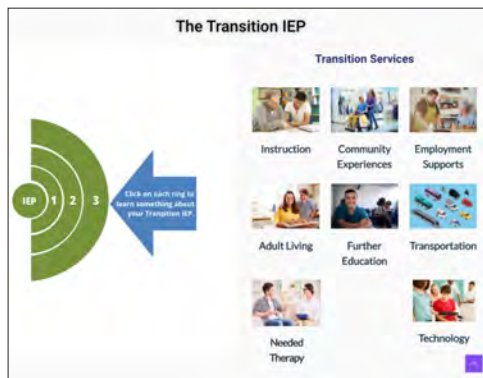

PLANNING

The Transition Planning page has 3 different sections. Click a button, and the page will scroll to the section.

1. What I Need to Do

This presentation runs by clicking any of the colored items above, or clicking on NEXT. To have the text read to you, click on the small arrow in the grey bar.

2. The Transition IEP

This section has a clickable set of circles on the left. Selecting each will reveal more information about the Transition IEP.

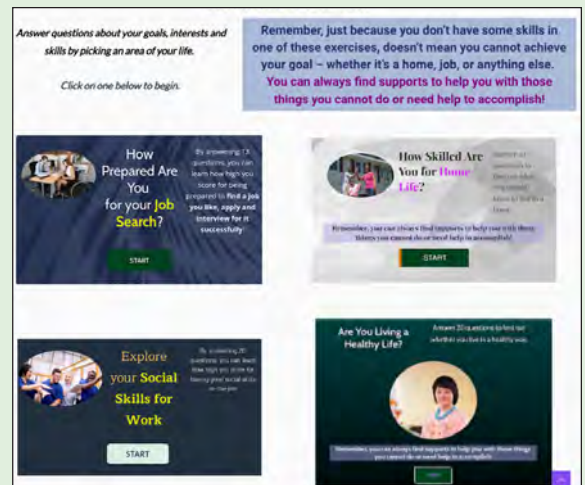

The right side of the page lists typical transition services.

3. Learn about Yourself

This is a series of self-tests in four areas:

1. Job search preparation
2. Home life skills
3. Social skills at work
4. Healthy living

Each self-test asks users to rate themselves on a series of questions. These are scored and totaled at the end.

Using FYI Transition

Here is an example of a question. Click the answer that best matches you own situation. A popup box over the selection provides some feedback.

To keep track of your self-tests, please see pages 10-11.

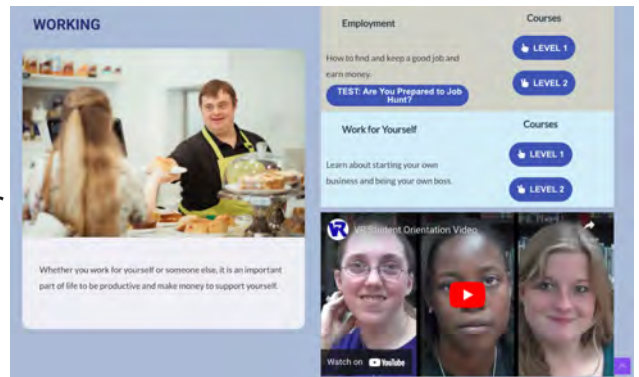

TOPICS

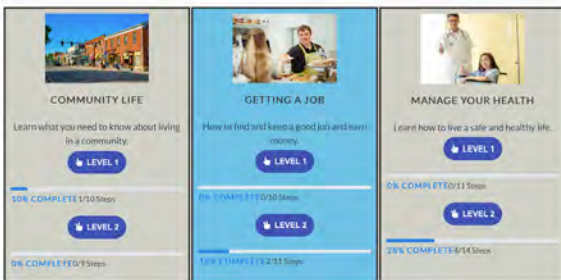

There are 3 main areas: Working, Living, and Learning. Click any of these or scroll to reach the area.

Each contains information on the topic.

There may be links to explore, a video to view, or a course to view.

COURSES

The Course page lists all the courses. You need to be registered to use them.

Each course has two levels. Level One has audio and is self-running. Level Two has a higher reading level.

When you click on a course level, you will see a screen with all the lessons. To start, click on the first one.

When a lesson appears, if there is a presentation, it will begin automatically. You will hear the information as well as seeing the lesson.

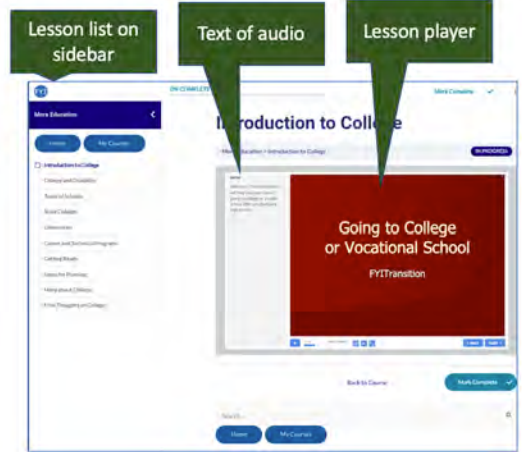

Using FYI Transition

If the lesson has several pages, it will move forward, or you can jump forward or backward by clicking the NEXT or PREVIOUS button.

When the entire presentation has finished, you can go to the next lesson or a previous one.

Once you move from a lesson you've viewed, it will be marked as complete. To keep track of your courses, please see pages 7-9.

GAMES

The games are about different life areas, such as work, health, or home living.

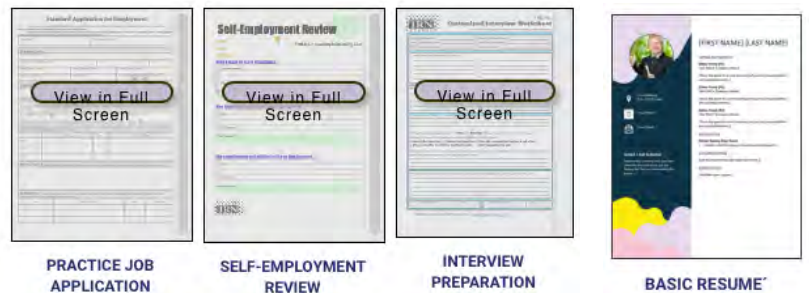

Click on any game to begin. Instructions are provided in each.

PRACTICE ACTIVITIES

This page offers downloadable forms that can be printed and worked on whenever you want.

WHO CAN HELP IN FL

This last section lists the agencies and programs that provide transition resources.

You can click on the list, or scroll down to view them all. Each listing provides a summary and a link to the organization’s website.

To learn more about what you need to know when you are 12 (or in 7th Grade), and then 14 years old (or first day of high school), click on the two presentations below.

In Florida, planning for my life after school starts when I am 12 or in 7th Grade whichever is first!

If you are interested in more resources beyond Florida, click on the button at top that says, Take Me to National Information.

You can view the list of resources provided there the same way as the Florida listing.
